The road on Chestnut hill in Chester is in such poor condition that the rural carrier has been obliged to discard his automobile for horses.

One hundred men and women have thronged the Ekwanok golf course at Manchester each morning and afternoon during the past month.

Over the week end two elderly St. Albans people, Mrs. Luth Olmstead, aged 89, and Charles Roy, aged 85, who lived with his daughter, passed away.

When Horace Ferris fell from the roof of his barn in Middlebury a few days ago, he broke his right arm between the wrist and elbow. He fell 20 feet.

One horse was killed and another badly injured when a team of horses, after dumping a load of lime at the lime kiln in Burlington, backed into an old kiln.

The owner of LaFortune's restaurant in Bennington has been in a state of suspense since early Saturday morning because a young crow roosted for several minutes on the roof of his shop. He thinks it may portend evil.

When a Hupmobile turned over in a swamp in an attempt to avoid striking a Quebec car near Grand Isle Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Marion Griswold of Burlington was slightly injured. Six others in the car escaped without a scratch.

During the day Friday, P. J. Henry of Burlington was in Hardwick seeing how the autoists are keeping the state laws and found no less than 25 without licenses or proper number plates. He went to Morrisville for his next investigation.

Cornelius Barlow and Harry Russell, aged 14 and eight respectively, were sentenced in municipal court at Burlington Monday to spend the remainder of their minority at the industrial school at Vergennes, because they stole from a meat cart.

The Eight Weeks' club of Rutland, one of 1008 such clubs throughout the country, whose prime motive is to transport to stay at homes some of the activities of college girls, is to present a pageant in September with the title, "The Spirit of Sisterhood."

Orlen Kenzie Lang, aged 31, committed suicide at his home in Lyndonville Saturday by shooting. It is supposed that the combination of continued poor health, overwork and the excessive heat brought about temporary insanity. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherburne Lang of Lyndon.

C. A. Parkhurst, the only man in business in Rutland who was in business there 30 years ago, was found dead in bed Saturday. Had he lived 24 hours longer he would have been 77 years old. He came to Rutland on the day of his wedding, Dec. 28, 1864, and had ever since made his home there.

A horse owned and driven by W. N. Webb suddenly bolted and jumped into the air at Lyndonville Friday, then dropping dead. It is believed the animal broke a blood vessel. U. S. Grant, who was in the team, was thrown 20 feet against a telephone pole, injuring one leg. Mr. Webb was not hurt.

A fire of incendiary origin visited the lumber yard of the Shepard and Morse Lumber company of Burlington Sunday evening. Quick discovery by two of the company officials and prompt response to the alarm by the fire department kept it confined to the two piles that were set on fire and the damage was consequently light.

Landon, plunged through the guard rail of the bridge over the Lamoille river, while on the way from South Hero to Burlington, and turned turtle at the foot of a 10-foot embankment Saturday, none of the party being seriously injured. Durfee was cut about the head. The car was not much damaged.

Lawrence Moore and James Emery, two Barre haymakers, had a narrow escape from drowning one day last week, when they attempted to ford the Passumpsic river, swollen by the recent rains. The haymaking outfit was caught up by the current and only by dexterous work were the young men able to loosen the harness on their horses and let them free before they were carried into a deep and treacherous pool but a few feet below. Help from the shore averted what might have been a tragedy.

William Sullivan, an eight-year-old St. Albans boy, had a weird experience last week while playing with a companion in the South Main street cemetery. They were in the part designated as the "old cemetery" when suddenly the ground gave way beneath Sullivan and he sank out of sight. The other boy, frightened, ran to a nearby house and secured help, and Sullivan was pulled from the depths of an old vault by means of a ladder. The vault had no marker and was not covered so that it resembled the sod plots about. Within there were three skeletons in good condition, two adults and one child.

FOR PUREBRED LIVESTOCK

Sales Company is Organized at Brattleboro.

The organization of the Purebred Livestock Sales Co. of Brattleboro, and the erection of a modern and substantial sales pavilion meets the demand of the development of New England interest in the breeding of purebred livestock. According to statistics of 1915, compiled by the United States department of agriculture, and released Jan. 1, 1916, the total valuation of cattle, sheep and swine in the six New England states is $69,972,000. There are in this section 850,000 dairy cattle, 506,000 other cattle, 456,000 swine and 351,000 sheep. Some of the foremost New England breeders of purebred livestock are identified with the sales company, and their concerted efforts cannot fail to advance the interests of stock raisers and afford a safe and ready market, where sales will be conducted on a high and just standard to both buyer and seller. A strict supervision of the health and character of all animals passing through these sales will be a powerful factor in eliminating the diseased and undesirable. With regard to size and appointments, the new sales pavilion at Brattleboro is second to no similar structure in New England.

New York Not the Only Toad in the Puddle.

Let those who think that New York is the only place to live in read what a man from a middle western state has to say in the August American Magazine. He says:

"Two years ago this winter my wife, son and myself attended a musical series at our local auditorium. The seats cost four dollars each for the season of three entertainments. We heard Amato, Kreisler and Paderewski. The Boston Symphony orchestra was also here later on, but we missed that. I've also seen Frank Gotch wrestle in the same building, so you see there's no dearth of opportunities to get the best that's going into this neck of the wildwoods."

ORANGE COUNTY FARMERS' ASSOCIATION NOTES.

Notes for week ending Aug. 12:

The annual meeting of the Orange County Farmers' association was held in Chelsea Thursday, Aug. 10. The business meeting was held in the forenoon with Pres. Roy Gilman in the chair. Representatives were present from all but four towns in the county, making in all an attendance of about 50. After the report of the officers, the committee appointed last year to revise the by-laws made their report, which was accepted after some discussion. The election of officers followed and the following were chosen: President, E. O. Bicknell, Bradford; vice-president, F. H. Bickford, Bradford; treasurer, G. C. Flint, Brantree. A town delegate was appointed for each town to form an advisory council: Bradford, Frank Depoush; Brantree, Charles Luce; Brookfield, George Sprague; Chelsea, Gay Broxley; Corinth, C. L. Spear; Fairlee, F. B. Howe; Newbury, W. H. Tuxbury; Orange, W. J. Chamberlain; Stratford, George Bassingthwaite; Thetford, C. A. Wilcox; Topsham, Henry White; Tunbridge, J. M. Bicknell; Vershire, A. B. Blanchard; Washington, J. A. Partridge; West Fairlee, R. A. Southworth; Williamstown, Wesley Seaver. It was voted to have a report of the meeting, the constitution and the report of the county agent printed and sent to each member of the county association.

Following lunch served by the ladies of the Methodist church, the meeting was again called to order and a splendid talk was listened to from Hon. E. S. Brigham, state commissioner of agriculture. His theme was the need of cash crops to supplement the dairy and the value of more standardization of product to secure better prices. The annual report of the county agent was read and accepted. He proposed for the slogan for this coming year, a local organization in every town of the county working in co-operation with the county association. For these organizations he outlined some of the projects in production, marketing, farm management and boys' and girls' club work which these could discuss and carry out. Thomas Bradley, director of the extension service of the University of Vermont, then gave a talk on the work of the county associations and how they could accomplish greater results. The afternoon attendance was over 125 and judging by the interest of these farmers, the county association is now on a solid foundation. The only regret was that not more availed themselves of the opportunity to be present and take part in the meeting.

The county agent gave talks on organization at the North Tunbridge grange picnic Friday, and the Thetford field day Saturday. E. L. Ingalls, in charge of boys' and girls' club work in this state, visited in company with the county agent some of the boys and girls who are doing club work in Brantree and Randolph. The corn in most of the fields is looking excellent in comparison with their father's or neighbors, and the pigs we saw in the pig club would make many older persons wish theirs looked as fine. If a few people could visit some of these club members and see the interest they take in work of that kind, I think there would be less apathy towards taking up this work everywhere.

This coming week, ending Aug. 19, the county agent expects to visit the first three days in Newbury on cow test work; Corinth, Sargent district, Tuesday night, and picnics at Randolph Center Thursday, Tunbridge Friday and Barre Saturday. Plans for all these picnics are progressing finely and large crowds and fair weather will make them long remembered for the good times they will bring. The Randolph Center picnic, Aug. 17, is under the auspices of the grange, but all are welcome. The demonstrations on the state school fields are seeing and we are promised a treat in the afternoon talk by John McSparrow of Pennsylvania. The Chelsea farmers' exchange picnic at Brookfield Aug. 18 has a splendid location for a view of the county and is worth the climb. The marl bed is also
